

CONTENTS

Preface Mothering While Black	ix
Acknowledgments	xiii
INTRODUCTION Bad Mothers and Baaaad Muthas: Black Maternal Figures in Post-Civil Rights America	1
CHAPTER 1 “I Got Self, Pencil and Notebook”: Literacy as Maternal Desire in Sapphire’s PUSH	29
CHAPTER 2 The Blues Mama in Suzan-Lori Parks’s Neo-Segregation Novel Getting Mother’s Body	54
CHAPTER 3 Toward a New Amerykah: The Maternal “Freakquencies” of Erykah Badu as Mothership	82
CHAPTER 4 “To Live and Reproduce, Not to Die”: Surrogacy and Maternal Agency in Octavia Butler’s Dawn	112
CHAPTER 5 Madea’s Big Happy Family : Tyler Perry and the Politics and Performance of Big Mama Drag	140
CONCLUSION Transgressive Black Maternal Figures and the Future of Black Feminist Cultural Studies	169
Notes	175
Bibliography	199
Index	207