

C O N T E N T S

Acknowledgments		ix
Introduction	Foul Matter: Edwin Chadwick, John Ruskin, and Mid-Victorian Aesthesis	1
Chapter 1	Dirty Pictures: John Ruskin, Modern Painters , and the Victorian Sanitation of Fine Art	19
Chapter 2	The Sanitary Narrative: Victorian Reform Fiction and the Putrescence of the Picturesque	43
Chapter 3	Victorian Dust Traps	67
Chapter 4	The Surgical Arts: Aesthesia and Anaesthesia in Late-Victorian Medical Fiction	87
Chapter 5	Aesthetic Anachronisms: Mary Ward's The Mating of Lydia and the Persistent Plot of Sanitary Fiction	110
Chapter 6	Intensive Culture: John Ruskin, Sarah Grand, and the Aesthetics of Eugenics	138
Coda	On Methods, Materials, and Meaning	165
Notes		169
Works Cited		178
Index		187