

C O N T E N T S

List of Illustrations	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
Introducing Economic Women
LANA L. DALLEY AND JILL RAPPOPORT	1
PART I ◦ THE ETHICS OF EXCHANGE
1 Gentry, Gender, and the Moral Economy during the Revolutionary and Napoleonic Wars in Provincial England
KATHRYN GLEADLE	25
2 Women, Free Trade, and Harriet Martineau's Dawn Island at the 1845 Anti-Corn Law League Bazaar
LESLEE THORNE-MURPHY	41
3 Sacrificial Value: Beyond the Cash Nexus in George Eliot's Romola
ILANA M. BLUMBERG	60
PART II ◦ POLITICAL ECONOMY
4 Florence Nightingale's Contributions to Economics
MARY POOVEY	77
5 The Cost of Everything in Middlemarch
GORDON BIGELOW	97
6 Demand and Desire in Dracula
DEANNA K. KREISEL	110

CONTENTS

PART III ◦ FINANCING THE FAMILY

- 7 “A pauper every wife is”: Lady Westmeath, Money, Marriage, and Divorce in Early Nineteenth-Century England
JANETTE RUTTERFORD 127
- 8 Marriage, Celibacy, or Emigration? Debating the Costs of Family Life in Mid-Victorian England
ERIKA RAPPAPORT 143
- 9 “Absolutely Miss Fairlie’s own”: Emasculating Economics in The Woman in White
ESTHER GODFREY 162

PART IV ◦ WOMEN’S BUSINESS

- 10 “She’d give her two ears to know”: The Gossip Economy in Ellen Wood’s St. Martin’s Eve
TARA MacDONALD 179
- 11 Charlotte Riddell: Novelist of “the City”
NANCY HENRY 193
- 12 A “Formidable” Business: British Women Travelers in the Colonial Medical Market
NARIN HASSAN 206

Afterword—and Forward

- Economic Women in Their Time, Our Time, and the Future
REGENIA GAGNIER 219

Contributors 225

Index 229