

C O N T E N T S

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
INTRODUCTION
Narrative Advocacy, Outlaw Texts, and Nineteenth-Century Portias	1
The Performance of Feminist Jurisprudence in a Century of Legal Reform	2
Resistance through Narrative in Outlaw Texts	4
Nineteenth-Century Portias: Making the Character Real	8
CHAPTER 1
A Novel Approach to Feminist Jurisprudence: Narrating the Gothic Reality of Coverture	17
Buried Alive under Coverture	21
Wollstonecraft's Prosecution of Gothic Laws	23
Outlaw Texts: Novels That Don't Police	28
CHAPTER 2
Legislative Histories and Literary Herstories: Infanticide, Bastardy, and the "Lewd Woman"	33
The Law's "Truth" about Infanticide and the Literary Judgment of Hetty Sorrel	36
Evidence to the Contrary: Infanticide in Outlaw Texts	41
Frances Trollope's Jessie Phillips : What about Her Story?	43

CHAPTER 3

Birth Control on Trial: Law, Literature, and Libel	68
Annie Besant Defends “A Dirty, Filthy Book”	73
Margaret Dunmore: or, A Socialist Home : Jane Clapperton’s Literary Trial of Family Planning	82
From the Obscene to the Offensive: Birth-Control Advocate Marie Stopes Sues for Libel	89

CHAPTER 4

Sitting in Judgment: A Cross-Examination of Women, Law, and Empire	96
Judge-Made Law: Attempts to Regulate a Growing Concern	98
She-who-must-be-obeyed : Queen of the Imagination	102
Mary Slessor: White Queen of the Okoyong	112
Women in the Legal Profession: “She” Makes It	118

CHAPTER 5

Appealing Women: Late-Century Publication of Private Wrongs	123
“A sort of legal Donna Quixote ”: Georgina Weldon’s Multiple Appeals	124
The Clitheroe Case: Appealing to Public Opinion	138
Narrative Appeals in New Woman Novels	147

AFTERWORD 173

Table of Acts	177
Notes	179
Bibliography	211
Index	225