

C O N T E N T S

Acknowledgments		ix
Introduction	Remissions/Reprieves	1
Chapter One	Carnival and Crisis in Three Stories by Nathaniel Hawthorne	21
Chapter Two	Oppositionality in Fielding's Tom Jones	35
Chapter Three	Carnival Diminished: The Secret Springs of Tristram Shandy	49
Chapter Four	Non-Carnavalesque Oppositionality: Jane Austen and the Golden Mean	67
Chapter Five	Checks and Balances: Charles Dickens's A Tale of Two Cities	94
Chapter Six	Across the Boundaries of Self: George Eliot's Daniel Deronda	116
Chapter Seven	Carnival Reversals: Thomas Hardy's The Mayor of Casterbridge	131
Chapter Eight	Morphology of the Test: Non-Contact Measurement of Self in Conrad's "The Secret Sharer"	143
Chapter Nine	Carnivalization: Throwaways in Joyce's Ulysses	157
◆
Break, Pause	Caesura	175
Varlam Shalamov	"The Artist of the Spade," trans. N. Strazhas	179
◆
Chapter Ten	Discourse of Lent: Kafka's "A Hunger Artist" and Shalamov's "The Artist of the Spade"	191
Concluding Remarks		202
Works Cited		211
Index		231