André Malraux: Tragic Humanist

By Charles D. Blend

"... Mr. Blend's responsible and intelligent book. . . . organized in response to the developments in Malraux's thoughts and concerns rather than by arbitrary schema, has done Malraux and the reader a service."

Garcilaso de la Vega: Obras completas

Edited by Elias L. Rivers

A critical edition, in Spanish, of the works of Spain's major Renaissance poet. The greater part of the text is based, both in substance and in orthography, upon the first edition of 1543. The Latin odes are accompanied by a Spanish version. Garcilaso's will is edited, for the first time, on the basis of the original manuscripts, in large part autographic. There is an appendix of significant variants drawn chiefly from the Gayangos cancionero and the editions of Francisco Sánchez de las Brozas, Herrera, Tamayo de Vargas, and Azara.
